TEN CENTS PER WEEK

Charles W. Metcalf, of Pineville, Elected President of State Bar Association at Closing Session

Report of The Committee on Nominations Adopted
Without Dissent.

Boat Ride This Afternoon and Banquet Tonight Wind Up Meeting.

With the election of officers this afternoon the State Bar association completed the business before it, and the members turned their attention to pleasure exclusively. At 4 o'clock they left on a river excursion, and tonight they will wind up the meeting in a grand finish with an elaborate banquet at the Palmer House.

The committee on nominations reported at 2:30 o'clock and the election, in accordance with recommendations, was without incident. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Charles W. Metcalf, Pineville.

Secretary, R. A. McDowell, Louisville.

Treasurer, John Todd, Shelbyville. Vice-presidents, N. W. Utley, Edinburg; Clarence Flynn, Owensboro; Jas Garnett, Columbia; Van B. Norman, Louisville; H. H. Tye, Williamsburg; Gray Falconer, Lexington; Thomas B. Carruthers, Newport.

Executive committee, J. D. Mocquot, Paducah; E. J. McDermott, Louisville; F. B. Rees, Covington; James Yeamans, Henderson; J. B. Bockner.

Next Meeting Place.

The next meeting place is left with the executive committee, but Estill Springs is spoken of as the place for the next meeting, although Mammoth Cave has been mentioned. The members favor getting away from a city for at least one meeting. The executive committee will meet probably some time this month for the purpose of selecting the next meeting place.

Opening Session.

The Kentucky State Bar association met this morning at 10 o'clock and business was again resumed, with Hon. John Allen, of Lexington, presiding.

The appointment of committee on nomination of officers was first taken up and the following were appointed: Hon. W. M. Reed, of Paducah; Hon. James Clay, of Henderson; Hon. T. A. Faurest, of Elizabethtown; Hon. T. K. Helm, of Louisville; Hon. R. C. Stoll, of Lexington; Hon. W. M. Ayers, of Pineville. Hon. W. H. Mackay was appointed chairman.

The following delegates to the American Bar association, which meets at Detroit, were named: Judge William Reed, Paducah; James Quarrels, Louisville, and T. P. Carruthers, Newport.

J. H. Sullivan, of Richmond, chairman of the committee on admission to the bar, reported, recommending reforms, increasing the standard required for admission to the bar, and expressed the hope that the next legislature would enact a bill similar to the one enacted by the last legislature, but in such form that it would receive the approval of the governor. B. R. Jouett, of Winchester, was not present and his paper on "Law Reform Committee's Report," was read by Secretary R. A. McDowell.

When the Law Falls.

The address of Hon. Robert L. Stout, of Versailles, on "Where the Law Falls," was extremely interesting. One of the greatest failures he said was the abuse of the plea of self-defense. He said it was over-worked, and while, of course, it should not be eliminated, the courts should see that it is not used when unjustified. If the courts fail to better conditions he suggested that it is up to the legislature.

The open qualifications for admission to the bar in Kentucky was another point where the law fails, and Mr. Stout urged that a higher qualification be required.

With the regular program completed the members began the passing of votes of thanks after the officers were elected. A rising vote of thanks was extended the Paducah Bar association for the generous welcome and entertainment, to the state association, and votes of thanks were extended to the retiring president, the secretary and the treasurer.

President Metcalf assumed the chair and delivered a short speech in which he thanked the members for the honor, and promised to use his best energy for the uplifting of the association.

With all of the business disposed of the meeting was brought to a formal close at 12:45 o'clock, and the members left the court house for lunch. This afternoon a boat ride was taken, and tonight at the Palmer House the banquet will be held. By tomorrow all of the lawyers will be

LAUGHING WATER BATHS.

New York, July 8.—Champagne soup, champagne salad dressing, champagne baths, champagne shampoos and champagne beverages brought Louis Voelker, a merchant, to Bloomingdale Asylum. A lunacy commission, appointed at his wife's application, began an inquiry into his condition today. His wife says her husband's daily quencher consisted of six pints of champagne, a quart of cognac and ten milk punches. He began his spree several months ago.

MISSOURI FLOOD SITUATION NOT RELIEVED TODAY

St. Louis, July 8.—Reports here are to the effect that the flood situation is growing worse. St. Charles, Mo., Kansas City, Chillicothe, Topeka and a number of Kansas points are seriously menaced. Every foot of Pattonsburg is under water. Rescue work, interrupted by darkness, was resumed at daylight and is proving difficult. Estimates of casualties are impossible, though some place the death list at 20. It rained most of the night.

Patterson, Mo., July 8.—A fleet of 50 rowboats and launches manned by parties from St. Joseph and Kansas City are rescuing people from houses tops and upper windows and trees, taking them to the edge of the flood where tents are erected. Provisions and physicians are at the camp. It is believed the crest of the flood has passed.

Authorities fear an outbreak of disease and are planning to make the camps sanitary and prevent disease in the town after the flood subsides. One problem is a lack of pure drinking water. The flood poured polluted water into the wells of the neighborhood and typhoid is feared. Relief is hastened from nearby towns and cities and sufferers are to be made comfortable by night.

Trains Wrecked.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 8.—Two wrecks are reported as the result of the floods. A double-header freight overturned near Burlington Junction on the Burlington road. No one was killed. A train is reported wrecked at Clearmont and a fireman killed.

QUICK'S FANCIFUL PLAN FOR AIRSHIP UTILIZED.

Victoria, B. C., July 8.—W. Gibson has invented an airship said to be almost a counterpart of the mythical in Quick's novel, "Virginia of the Airplanes." Gibson claims he experienced success and declared he can fly from Victoria to San Francisco in less than five hours. He carries a set of governors so effective that it would right itself automatically in the air, if started outside down.

Aeronaut Falls

Waukegan, Ill., July 8.—Berne Yohn, an amateur aeronaut, is in the hospital with his wrists and ankles broken, and his back injured, but may recover. His balloon ascending was torn by a guy rope. It rose ten feet and then fell rapidly.

The session this morning was graced by the presence of the wives of some of the members. The ladies appeared to enjoy the meeting and remained until adjournment. Those present were: Mrs. R. A. McDowell, of Louisville; Mrs. J. C. Flournoy, Mrs. Lena Wessinger and Mrs. Gus Thomas, of Mayfield.

Att'y General on Corporations.

Says States Should Bar Holding Company Corporations and Thus Destroy Trusts—Speech Last Night.

Briefly summed up Hon. George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States believes that trust and combinations in restraint of trade, can be curbed by state laws, refusing licenses to foreign corporations organized in any other states, fifty per cent of whose stock is owned by another corporation. He also advocates a national law, providing for federal creation of corporations doing interstate commerce business.

Mr. Wickersham established by many numerous citations that states have authority to restrict the entrance of foreign corporations within their borders by any terms they see fit, so that they are treated like other similar corporations; but he emphasized the limitations on this authority when it comes to dealing with interstate commerce conditions.

He said: "Much legislation has been enacted in various states for the purpose of preventing trusts, pools and combinations in restraints of trade and monopolies. Some of them have been more or less effective; most of them have proved ineffective as applied to foreign corporations."

"It has seemed to me," he said, "that an effective method of legislating on this subject would be to enact that no foreign corporation would be licensed to do business within the state if fifty per cent of its capital stock or upwards was owned or held by any other corporation domestic or foreign; and that if at any time after obtaining a license more than twenty-five per cent of the capital stock of such a corporation is acquired by another corporation the license should be ipso facto vacated. The device of the holding corporation is the only thing which has made possible the rapid growth of the great trusts and monopolies and a prohibition, such as that stated, would go far toward their destruction."

Demand Federal Protection.

"The increasing complexity and variety of regulation and taxation of foreign corporations by the various states has led to the organization of domestic corporations under the laws of the respective states where business is to be conducted, the capital stocks of which are held by a 'holding company,' organized to that mode of organization. Such is the organization of practically all of the best known trusts. A system of disqualifying state legislation such as suggested, while effective for the purpose, would inevitably increase the demand for federal legislation authorizing the organization of corporations under national laws for the conduct of interstate business."

He established the power of congress to organize corporations under the general power to regulate commerce among the states, and by many precedents, and said:

Centralization Inevitable.

"Of course, many will object to the centralizing tendency of a national law, authorizing the formation of corporations to carry on interstate business; but such a law seems to me to be the inevitable result of economic conditions. The business of manufacture and sale or barter and trade, is today conducted on such a vast scale that it cannot be circumscribed by the boundaries of any one state. On the other hand, no one state can effectively grapple with abuses of the vast power which modern conditions place in the hands of those who control great corporate enterprises. The amendment to the tariff bill recently introduced in congress, will, if enacted into a law, for the first time, require of all corporations, wherever organized, annual reports of those facts concerning their business which their stockholders and creditors and all who deal with them are entitled to know. If, now, congress shall enact a law providing for national incorporation to carry on interstate commerce, subject to such restrictions and with such freedom from local state control as congress shall see fit to prescribe, the state control of foreign corporations will soon cease to be a subject of great importance."

Well Received.

Hon. John R. Allen, of Lexington, president of the State Bar association, presided last night.

The Kentucky theater was well filled when Mr. Wickersham was introduced by Hon. Charles K. Wheeler in a speech, which happily put the attorney general and his audience in sympathetic touch. Mr. Wickersham explained that his address was prepared for lawyers and it would prove dry matter for the average hearer. However, most of the audience remained and listened attentively throughout. Mr. Wickersham proved his points as he proceeded and closed with the extracts reproduced today.

Mr. Wickersham made a pleasing impression personally on the mem-

SWITCHMAN WILLIAMS

SAVES HIS OWN LIFE

By holding with one hand to the engine, while his body dragged the ground, H. A. Williams, 730 Kentucky avenue, a switchman for the Illinois Central railroad, saved himself from a horrible death under the wheels last night. He was carried to the Illinois Central hospital and examined by the physicians, but beyond a few bruises he was uninjured. Williams is a switchman and last night about 7 o'clock was working in the south yards, where switch engine No. 209 was switching cars. Williams was standing on the footboard while the engine was running at a lively clip, and an unseen obstruction in the track tore the footboard off, and Williams fell to the track. When he fell he threw up his hands and fortunately seized a hold on the locomotive. Before the engineer stopped his engine Williams' body was dragged the length of five cars.

Wasted Argument.

"I understand that you called on the plaintiff, Mr. Barnes. Is that so?" questioned Lawyer Fuller, now chief justice.

"Yes," answered the witness. "What did he say?" next demanded Fuller.

The attorney for the defense jumped to his feet and objected that the conversation could not be admitted in the evidence. A half-hour's argument followed and the judges retired to their room to consider the point.

An hour later the judges filed into the court room and announced that Mr. Fuller might put his question.

"Well, what did the plaintiff say, Mr. Barnes?"

"He weren't at home, sir," the answer without a tremor.—Success Magazine.

RACE MEET

CLOSES AFTER THREE DAYS OF EXCELLENT SPORT.

The three days' racing meet closed yesterday afternoon with a full program of running races. The running horses drew a fair crowd considering the threatening weather, and with a clear sky a large crowd would have attended the final day.

Owing to the rains the track was not in good condition, although the horses made fair time. The barrier was used to start the races, and the runners were started quicker.

The races yesterday afternoon closed the racing as the Paducah Fair association arranged a program for only three days. After the publication in The Sun last evening of the plans for three days' running races the authorities stopped them.

Owing to the extreme heat two horses were lost the first day of the races, and others became sick as the result of the heat, but the last two days were without mishaps.

First race, one-half mile, 2 in 3 heats, purse $100—First heat—Hermetical, owned by H. McCarron, won; Enterlight, owned by W. D. Deal, second; Granday, third; Gus Cunoit and Dan Bailey also ran. Time: :50 1/2.

Second Heat—Hermetical, won; Gus Cunoit, second; Granday, third; Dan Bailey, also ran; Enterlight, fourth.

- This restriction does not apply to the coupon votes clipped from The Sun or associate papers.
- No candidate will be permitted to lead two days in succession if any other candidate has enough votes to pass him.

Three full working days remain in which to take advantage of the fifth bonus vote offer in the Paducah Sun and associate Newspapers' Great Voting Contest. This offer is: TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES for every $25 worth of NEW subscriptions, and FIVE THOUSAND EXTRA VOTES for every $25 worth of OLD business, turned in before Saturday night.

Three days is sufficient time to win two bonuses with ordinary effort. By the use of extraordinary effort it is possible to win twice or three times this many in this time.

Bonuses count. The contest department has a red book in which it keeps the name of all those who win them and if a candidate's name doesn't appear in this book once in awhile said candidate is not in the prize-winning class. You must win bonuses to win prizes. You must take advantage of every opportunity offered and no other such opportunities are offered.

Candidates must not reach the conclusion that two or three subscriptions handed them by friends will do them any great amount of good in this contest of hustlers. It takes three subscriptions to keep your name in the list, and you must turn in five before you will even be considered in the prize-winning class.

Daily Thought.
It's always safe to deny the authority of an opportunity that thrusts itself on a duty."

They ain't goin' to be no more racin'.

Alienists in the Gingles case in Chicago have produced a new kind of insanity. We know lots of mythomaniacs.

In glancing over the list of candidates presented by Louisville Democracy we miss the name of our old friend, Senator McNutt, now dead.

We presume the Madisonville Journal suspended its unvarying rule about anonymous communications in favor of those "Night Riders," 800 Strong".

People, who wonder at the power wielded by the bench and bar, may study The Sun this evening learn upon "What meat doth this great Caesar feed, that he has grown so great?" They eat that kind of food all the time.

It will be unfortunate if the popular mind confuses the short racing meets of the local association with the unhappy twenty-one days' racing season, which never was. The Paducah Fair association has afforded the people of this vicinity some excellent sport, and its meets have been without disorder or any other element to discourage its efforts. Lovers of horse flesh are indebted to the gentlemen, who give their time to making this amusement a success, and look forward to even better sport next fall.

THE TRUST DISEASE AND ITS REMEDY.

One man invents a projectile that will pierce any armor. Then another man patents an impervious armor. Immediately the first man sets about improving his projectile, and so the world wags on. The necessity always precedes its child, the invention.

We enact criminal laws to discourage crimes already known, not to anticipate the result of conditions not yet experienced. We do not enact building laws for a class of buildings only contemplated. The cure can be discovered only after the disease is studied.

Thus it is with our modern problem of corporate control. They developed as the result of an economic condition. They assumed huge proportions and began to prey upon one another like gigantic creatures of the sea. Citizens became alarmed and specifics were proposed by radical publicists, who are most sensitive to popular impulses, but least disposed to erudition. They proposed and enacted laws, condemning trusts and combinations in restraint of trade, and imposed excessive burdens of taxation and penalties on them. Like the projectile manufacturer, when he found the impervious armor, the corporation lawyers devised a means to get around state regulations. They organized a corporation in the state in which they wished to do business and transferred the stock to another.

corporation, known as a "holding company", organized in New Jersey. This holding company possessed the stock of all corporations in the states in which they did business, and the whole combination was known as a trust; because the holding company acted in the capacity of a trustee. That accounts for the scores of subsidiary corporations of the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey.

Against this form of combination small fry politicians and legislators have raved and ranted. Like the quack doctor, who recognized the presence of fever and a headache in his patient and resorted to an ice pack to reduce the temperature and a powder to cure the headache, while the producing cause of both was beyond his comprehension; these legislators have enacted all sorts of penal measures, designed to put the trusts in the penitentiary.

The sagacious statesmen studied the organization of trusts. Some people complained because the national administrations persisted in calling corporation lawyers to the cabinet; but Roosevelt and Taft were wise. They wanted men, who understood the nature of the monsters with which they had to deal, and the result was the frank declaration last night at the Kentucky theater by Attorney General Wickersham that a simple remedy is within the power of every state, which will "destroy" these combinations.

The "holding company" is the bacteria, which produces the trust. A law, which will render the holding company plan abortive, will "destroy" the trusts. The remedy is simple. He suggests the enactment of a law prohibiting any foreign corporation doing business in the state, fifty percent of whose stock is owned by another corporation.

That was the sum and substance of his speech last night. He is a thorough lawyer, and he proved all his steps as he went along by citations of authority. Like all other men, who have been engaged in the federal fight on the trusts, he sees plainly the necessity for federal supervision of interstate corporations. State control is limited when it comes to interstate commerce. The federal government by the corporation income tax will compel the publicity of corporation accounts, a measure that may be undertaken to "rub in" on the Republican leaders the fact that the Democratic convention at Denver had declared for the submission of a constitutional amendment on the income tax, and to accuse the Republicans of appropriating the idea.

He said, as he looked at Senator Brown, of Nebraska, that the latter had been given credit for the authorship of the resolution upon which the senator was about to vote, but he added that he wanted to express the hope that the senator would not omit informing the people of the country that he appropriated the idea from a Democrat, and a distinguished citizen of his state. This direct reference to Mr. Bryan caused Senator Brown, of Nebraska, to ask:

"Does the gentleman from Missouri complain of the source of the idea?"

"Oh, no," replied Mr. Stone. "I am not complaining. I am congratulating the senator on having gone to that source."

"Well, does the senator from Missouri complain because the idea has been appropriated?" asked Mr. Brown, without smiling.

"Not at all," responded Mr. Stone. "I am glad that the Republican party has gone to the Democratic platform for its idea. I repeat that I am congratulating the senator."

"Well," said Mr. Brown, "does not the senator from Missouri know that if anything good in any Democratic platform is ever to benefit the people of the United States it must be appropriated by somebody?"

And Mr. Brown as solemnly sat down again.

AMEND CHARTERS WISH OF MAYORS

TO RELIEVE CITIES OF BURDEN
—SOME DAMAGE SUITS

Meeting of Second and Third Class
Cities at Frankfort,

TAKE PRELIMINARY STEPS

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—The mayors and city attorneys of several of the Second and Third classes of this state met here for the purpose of perfecting an organization looking to concerted action in the matter of municipal legislation, municipal reform and many improvements in the fiscal affairs of the municipalities of this class.

The movement is wholly non-political and non-partisan and the officials of the various cities, regardless of politics, will be invited to join in the movement.

Subsequent meetings, the places and dates to be announced later, were arranged for.

A temporary organization was perfected. Mayor Hume was elected chairman and Mayor O'Bryan, secretary.

Those present were: Mayor S. D. Harris, of Henderson; Mayor Jno. J. Craig, of Covington; Mayor Geo. L. Wilson, of Bowling Green; Mayor W. M. O'Bryan, of Owensboro; Mayor E. Hume, of Frankfort; City Solicitor Jno. E. Shepard, of Covington; City Attorney William Cromwell, of Frankfort; City Attorney R. C. P. Thomas, of Bowling Green.

To Draft Bill.

The mayors hope to be able to draft a bill to be presented at the next session of the legislature that will so amend the charters of the cities to relieve them from the burden of damage suits, heavy taxation and useless offices.

The first step taken in this great proposed reform was at the meeting of the mayors held here. Judge E. C. O'Rear was present, being invited by Mayor Hume, and besides making many suggestions for reform, he will be relied upon to suggest many of the features of the measure that will bring about the reforms.

Another meeting of the Third class city mayors will be held in Louisville in a short time, at which the mayors of all the cities will meet, and legislation looking to the betterment of all the cities in the commonwealth.

Damages Suits a Menace.

The one special reform desired, however, is that of changing the charters so as to protect the cities against damage suits. Thousands of dollars are secured from the municipalities annually because of some child falling to the pavement sustaining an injury, some citizen breaking a limb on a rough pavement or street, slight damage done by the overflow of water, or the washing out of a street.

The great cost, too, is in the payment of attorneys' fees and costs, for it has been discovered by the few years of experience since the cities that Kentucky juries rarely ever turn down the plaintiff in a damage suit against the city, even if the judgment is for one cent, enough to put the costs of the city.

A committee composed of City Attorneys Cromwell, of Frankfort, and Thomas, of Bowling Green, will draw up the resolution setting forth the reforms needed, and it will be from this resolution that the measure will be drafted.

It is so next to impossible to teach a boy to earn his own living that it's hardly worth while to try if you can support him.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

An old sore existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the place that would kill the germs; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result. Just as long as the pollution continues in the blood, the ulcer remains an open cesspool for the deposit of impurities which the circulation throws off. S. S. S. cures Old Sores by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of impurity and taint from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood, the sore begins to heal, and it is not a surface cure, but the healing process begins at the bottom; soon the discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. PROPS FOR PROHIBITION.

Will Be Put in Place by Special Session.

Montgomery, Ala., July 8.—Determines to make laws that the liquor interests cannot evade, Gov. B. B. Comer has called a special session of the legislature for July 27, at which time the most important matter will be the strengthening of the prohibition act. The decision of the supreme court that no prohibition against holding or storing liquors can stand has aroused the anti-saloon forces. One of their leaders declares that at the special session a bill will be passed to put prohibition in the constitution.

Judge McDowell Likely to Be Named. Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—Chairman Henry B. Prewitt, of the Democratic state central committee, has certified to Governor Wilson the names of three Democrats from whom to appoint a Democratic member of the state board of election commissioners. The Democrats named are Prison Commissioner, Judge Charles R. McDowell, of Danville; J. Morgan Chinan and H. V. McChesney, of this city. The appointment of John T. Shely was formally made, the law saying that the governor must make the appointment in July. It is expected that the governor will reappoint Judge McDowell as the Democratic commissioner. STATE BAR MEETING

J. McDermott, of Louisville. The committee favored the use of sciences, but called for a radical change to prevent the criminals taking advantage of the law, and escaping punishment.

The abuses occur most frequently in criminal prosecutions, will contests and in suits for damages in cases of personal injuries. The blame for the corrupt use of expert testimony was placed as much on the lawyer by Mr. McDermott as on the expert, who offered to testify to any fact and base his bill on the verdict of the jury.

Regarding the "unwritten law," Mr. McDermott said: "The use of expert testimony is brought out most plainly in spectacular murder trials, where effort is made to save the neck of some criminal by presenting the fictitious plea of insanity. This hollow pretense has often been used to late to enable juries and courts to violate their rules by giving effect to the so-called 'unwritten law' or by freeing from just punishment some man who has a plausible plea for public sympathy and who is helped by heedless and shrewd and corrupt newspaper advocacy. If the so-called unwritten law is sound, it should be made a written statute or it should be suppressed with a firm hand. We should not force jurors and judges to perjure themselves and to render dishonest verdicts because we have not the hardihood to put such a law on the statute books."

The "brain storm" and "emotional insanity" were not held as justifiable to prevent criminals receiving just punishment. By excusing them the committee reported that the number was only multiplied. The study of nervous diseases is far from complete, and the lawyers recommended that only alienists of high character and ability be employed as witnesses.

In closing Mr. McDermott said: "Such trials as the Thaw trial, the Haines trial and the trials of similar character in Virginia a few years ago tend to bring, not only the lawyers and doctors into dispute, but to make the people themselves believe that we cannot or will not make judicial trials reasonably efficient for the promotion of justice."

Afternoon Session.

It was after 4 o'clock before the state bar association adjourned Wednesday afternoon, becoming involved in a lively discussion over Hon. Gus Thomas' resolution, requesting the court of appeals to repeal its rule, ordering all citations of cases reported in the "Official Reporter" to be so cited, and not in any other publication.

Beginning with Brig. Gen. James Allen, the chief signal officer, every member of the corps wants the members of the house and senate to witness the remarkable flights made by the Wright brothers in order that they will treat more kindly and with greater familiarity the requests for appropriations for aeronautical work.

On Taxation.

The afternoon session was taken up with reports. One of the most interesting was that on state and municipal taxation by W. H. Mackay, of Covington. He told of the work of the committee and of the commission appointed by the governor. He said he would not anticipate the commission's report, but all agreed that no adequate reform can be secured without a constitutional amendment giving greater latitude to the legislature. He said now it is possible to segregate property that one kind of property may be assessed for state purposes, another for county and another for city. He condemned the section 171 of the constitution, providing for a general property tax, and said the burden of taxation should be so equalized that people would desire to keep their property in Kentucky.

The executive committee report, made by S. D. Rouse, of Covington, named John R. Allen, E. J. McDermott, W. H. Mackay, D. C. Lindsey and Z. T. Merrow a committee to participate in behalf of the association in the celebration of the removal of the court of appeals to the new capital.

J. C. Bowder, of Russellville, read the report of the necrology committee, eulogizing the five members, who died during the year.

The investigating committee had no charges to report.

Mr. R. L. Green, of Frankfort, made the report of the committee on preservation of records, setting forth their recommendations.

John B. Baskin, of Louisville, reported that the insurance committee had laid before the legislature recommendations adopted at the last bar association meeting.

In an address on "The Future of Our Profession," Mr. Montgomery Merritt, of Henderson, rehearsed the past glories of the bar; defined the changes which a new social, industrial and commercial order have necessitated in the profession, spoke of the dangers which beset modern relations of the lawyer to business, and dwelt upon the possibilities that lay in the paths of the profession, if it keeps close to its ideals and leads in movements for the public weal.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN AIDS BRANDENBURG

DOES NOT SEE PRISONER BUT HINTS AT GETTING BOND.

Thinks Caller at Station May Have Appreciated His Slum Work.

HIS WIFE IS COMING HERE.

St. Louis, July 8.—A strange woman, pretty and dressed in the height of fashion, who refused to give her name, is the latest person to take an interest in Brighton Brandenburg, facing trial here for enticing from his home James Shepard Cabanne III, 9 years old, whom he spirited away to San Francisco. The woman was at police headquarters several times inquiring about the amount of bond that would be required to secure the release of the wellknown writer. She finally sold that it would not be necessary for him to remain long in jail.

The woman did not visit the prisoner, and when the fact of her presence was imparted to him in his cell, Brandenburg said he could not imagine who she was unless she was one of the young women who became interested in his slum work when he was in St. Louis four or five years ago. At that time, he said, several of the women who were also interested in the work told him that if he ever needed assistance they could be called upon. Brandenburg said that he had almost forgotten the words of the women and that he had not called on any of them for assistance.

Wife Is Coming Here.

Brandenburg received two letters from Mrs. Cabanne-Brandenburg. Both were couched in endearing terms, and in the last one Mrs. Brandenburg said she hoped to be able to leave New York Thursday of this week, so that she could be in St. Louis in time to appear as a witness for Brandenburg in case he was sent on trial.

On his way to St. Louis Monday Brandenburg gave the newspapers a story for which he was paid $25. He received the check and it was immediately forwarded to Mrs. Brandenburg at her home.

"It was the first money I have earned in some time," said Brandenburg. "There is no use denying the fact that I am broke, but I still have my brains and my good right hand and can recuperate if given a chance. I have some more money coming to me and that will be sent to Mrs. Brandenburg, so she can come to St. Louis."

"After I am out of this trouble, or for that matter while I am awaiting trial and on bond, which I expect to get within a short time, I propose to remain right here in St. Louis."

Did Not Elope With Mrs. Cabanne. What seemed to worry Brandenburg more than anything else yesterday was a story printed in a morning paper to the effect that he had eloped with Mrs. James S. Cabanne. He dictated the following, bearing on that story:

In reference to the printed statement that I eloped with the then Mrs. Cabanne, this is a gross error, an injustice to her. The Cabannes had patched up a divorce suit some time prior to 1906. In May of that year came another family rapture and Mrs. Cabanne took up her home with her brother-in-law, E. W. Bliss, in New York. In July she returned to St. Louis to get her son.

As one of Bliss' intimate friends, I knew her and Mr. Cabanne, and being on a visit to my father at Springfield, Ill., and having business in St. Louis, I was in St. Louis a portion of the time that Mrs. Cabanne was here. I remained in St. Louis for some time after she left, and was with Mr. Cabanne many times. After leaving St. Louis she lived with her sister and then established her home with Blayney's family. When in New York I was at home at my house, 25 Fifth avenue, which I relinquished May 1, 1907. I did not accompany Mrs. Cabanne and there was no elopement. I didn't even know her destination and subsequent whereabouts for some time."

For Attorney General.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 8.—In the current issue of the Bowling Green Messenger the Hon. Mills M. Logan, of Edmonson county, announces his candidacy for attorney general of the commonwealth, subject to the action of the Democratic party. He is the first candidate to formally announce his purpose to make the race for a state office. Mr. Logan is only 34 years of age, but has a wide acquaintance throughout the district and is counted one of the brightest lawyers of his age in southern Kentucky. It is not thought that the Third district will present any other candidate for a state office to the next state convention. Mr. Logan will soon begin a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy.

A Promise to Pay

Would you accept a stranger's note? No. Then why accept from a stranger any other promise to pay? A fire insurance policy is such a promise. Ought you to accept it without knowing all about the Company? Your usual business confidence is based on knowledge. Why make an exception in that part of your business which deals with insurance? A name is worth nothing on any kind of a promise to pay unless it is backed by character and resources.

We favor insurance knowledge, particularly about our companies. Their promises to pay have never gone to protest. Their obligations to policy holders are backed with such a good reputation and such ample financial resources that the more you know about them the more you will want protection by their policies.

ALL CATTLE MUST BE INSPECTED NOW

TUBERCULAR COWS BARRED FROM STATE.

State Board of Health Finds the Disease Prevalent in Many Counties.

CALLS ON LOCAL BOARD, TOO

Louisville, July 8.—At a meeting of the state board of health, held in the Atherton building, a proclamation was issued against tubercular cattle, and steps were taken to give the authority of the state board to the application of the tuberculin test.

The state board bases its action upon recent examinations made by Dr. Cyrus W. Field, of Louisville, showing that the cattle of this state are infected with tuberculosis. Authority is given all the county boards to apply the tuberculin test and to kill all tubercular cattle.

The proclamation adopted was as follows:

Proclamation by the state board of health:

Whereas, Under the authority of the fiscal court of Jefferson county, Dr. Cyrus W. Field, pathologist and bacteriologist of the University of Louisville, a man of wide experience and eminent authority upon the subject, examined 119 specimens of milk taken from 53 dairies of various counties supplying milk to the city of Louisville, and found that 39.1 per cent of them were tubercular; now, therefore, be it resolved that

Whereas, Infectious and contagious disease exists among cows producing milk for sale in this state, in the counties of Jefferson, Shelby, Spencer, Larue, Hardin, Kenton, Campbell, Fayette and other counties of this state, and it is essential to take precautions against the spreading of such disease, because the use of the milk from such cows is a menace to the lives and health of the people, and especially the infant children of the state who may use such milk, and the herding of such cows with cows free from said disease exposes the healthy cow to infection and contagion.

Now, by virtue of the authority of law vested in us as the state board of health, we do hereby proclaim:

Rules Set Down.

First—That such infectious or contagious disease exists in the counties of this state.

Second—That in order to prevent the spreading of that disease and protect the health of the inhabitants of this state, we proclaim and direct that the following rules adopted by this board, namely:

First—It shall be the duty of every person owning or having control of cows in this state, used for the production of milk for sale or exchange to submit at all times such cows to the tuberculin test for tuberculosis; such examination to be had by the veterinary surgeon of this board or his assistants; and no milk shall be permitted to be sold or disposed of in the state of Kentucky unless the cow producing same shall have been tested and show negative reaction to tuberculin.

Second—That in order to prevent infection or contagion among herds of cows of this state, and the spreading of disease resulting from tuberculosis, all cows found by the veterinary surgeon of this board to be af-

Aeroplanitis Has Seized Nearly Everybody in National Capital

Washington, July 8. (United Press)—The national capital is now afflicted with the hot weather, the tariff debate and the aeroplane fever, and the greatest of these is the last.

Aeroplanitis thrives and increases in spite of the shrivelling sunshine and choking dust of the Fort Myer parade ground where the Wright brothers are making their flights. Senators whose temperaments are antipodal to that commonly described as Gallic forsake the chamber and trudge patiently out into the unsheltered expanse of field where the sun beats mercilessly down upon them to see the machine soar.

Even Steve Elkins and Ben Tillman, whose enthusiasm is as well ordered and well controlled as that of E. H. Harriman, will wait for an hour—a patience-wrecking, temperature-disturbing hour—and when the machine leaves its rail with a clacking of propellers wave their hats ecstatically and shake hands with each other, even if it goes only a hundred yards. And Senator Gore, who can't see at all, will wait with the others, to hear the whirring engine whiz past him somewhere in the upper levels.

Fourth—No animals of the bovine species, except such as brought for immediate slaughter, shall be allowed to be brought into this state unless they have shown negative reaction to tuberculin, which shall be shown by a certificate of the veterinary surgeon and the health officer in the territory from which said cattle come; and in addition to this, such cattle shall be subject to the inspection of the bureau of animal industry of the United States, and all officers of this commonwealth, shall aid in conjunction with the officers of this board to effectuate the purposes of the foregoing rules.

Fifth—No animals of the bovine species, except such as brought for immediate slaughter, shall be allowed to be brought into this state unless they have shown negative reaction to tuberculin, which shall be shown by a certificate of the veterinary surgeon and the health officer in the territory from which said cattle come; and in addition to this, such cattle shall be subject to the inspection of the bureau of animal industry of the United States.

All rules and parts of rules heretofore enacted by this board in conflict with the foregoing rules are hereby repealed.

Resolved, That all herds of cattle in this state shall be examined by the veterinary surgeon of this board, and such other persons as may be employed and necessary from time to time in accordance with said rules; that all cows having said disease shall be isolated from and secluded from all other animals in the possession of the owner of such cows, and that no infected cow shall be kept except in a barn not less than 300 feet distant from such healthy animals; that all buildings used for stabling cows for dairy purposes and the keeping of cows for the production of milk for sale, shall strictly comply with the rules heretofore enacted by this board.

This board calls on the sheriffs and deputy sheriffs of the various counties of this state, as well as upon all local boards, fiscal courts and municipal boards, to assist it in enforcing and carrying out the provisions of this proclamation, and the orders of this board, and to observe and obey the same, and upon the commonwealth's attorneys, county attorneys and officers of this commonwealth, including the magistrates and constables of the various counties and districts of the state, by all legal proceedings in their power to the enforcement of this proclamation, and the orders of this board, and to subject all persons refusing to comply herewith to the penalties prescribed by the laws of this state.
